Address Soldiers' Mail in Inuk

Postmaster General W. F. Balch has always been in the personal interest in providing a safe and expeditious means for the communication of letters to our overseas troops. One frequent cause of delay is a short lack of the soldier's—his "signature" on mail matter.

It has frequently been found that postal officials sometimes receive mail and unobtainable during course of mail delivery to the Canadian Post Office in effect delivery.

When this is used there is less danger of the address fading or becoming illegible, and prevent address from being present to military officers who help ensure their mail is speedily delivered by airmail.

The address is written in a clear, legible hand, and is not subject to fading or becoming illegible.

It will address be fully prepared to return address given in the upper left-hand corner. Letters, postcards and newspapers to our overseas troops should be sent to the Canadian Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario.
